Family Deceived.

It is believed that the Barnes family were deceived into accepting Miss Barnes' marriage as genuine, though later her father was fully aware of her relations with Mr. Lorillard and made his home with her in the residence at Il East Thirty-first street, provided for her by Mr. Lorillard.

The explanation of why Mr. Lorillard suggested a mock marirage with a woman servant is said by his intimates to reandal that would inevitably have followed the disclosure of his harboring an unmarried woman aboard his yacht, an unmarried woman aboard his yacht, but she fell before they could reach her. Her husband threw his arms that difficulty he would be forever a victim of the quasi-husband's blackmailing inclinations.
